Dr.Ed & Toys is proud to be a leading producer of high quality, educational toys. At first our toys were used for experimentation in local schools in the Bangkok Metropolitan area. Now our designs are well recognized for their value of giving excellent opportunities for the learning process and for experiencing creativity around the globe.

Dr.Ed & Toys always maintains the highest standard. Each product is certified by both the ASTM F963-96A of the United States of America and EN-71 of the European Union, which guarantee both quality and safety.

Dr.Ed & Toys believes in both the quality of life and in the protection of the environment of this world we live in. We replanted the rubber trees especially for their wood and latex because the Para rubber tree normally stop producing latex after 26-30 years. So we cut them down and replace with new ones. This doesn't only mean that there is no deforestation involved, but also every part of the tree is reasonably utilized.

Dr.Ed & Toys also exploits discoveries from researches to develop our products to make sure that they are safe and best didactic material for the children. This is the reason why our designs are always in the forefront and suitable for the basic stages of development in children.
